

The Mansfield (O.) News reports that "again haxxe the heart of radiant, fragrant young maiden and heart of cavalier flaming with love been blended into one by nuptial rites. Miss Belle Richey is the maiden and Ollie Dennis is the cavalier, and they quietly went to the Presbyterian parsonage Monday night, January 2d, and the Rev. Glenrole McQueen performed their rites, and the minister's words that linked their hearts in jeweled chains of connubial love fell like the dews of heaven on their bowed heads. The bride has all the instincts of a lady, and is a connubial prize, rich and rare. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richey, deceased, a family of high social prestige. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dennis, and most respected residents. He is most genial and of unsullied name, and the happy twain's many friends hope that their path, now so radiant with joy, may never be darkened with sorrow's shadows. Another witching beauty's brown eyes will beam through bridal veils here before the daisy rears its gentle head again, and how beautiful and touching is the wooing and winning of coy, modest maiden's heart by cavalier in whose heart love's strange, mad fever burns!"

The ball to be given by the Bohemian Club, the latest flourishing organization to assume a position in this city of clubs, is to be the event of the coming week. It will take place at Christensen's hall on next Tuesday evening, and the real Bohemians, musicians, artists, and writers who belong to it are going to make it a splendid success. There will be an orchestra of twenty-five pieces, which in itself will constitute a uniquely attractive feature, and in accord with the true Bohemian spirit, everyone will be welcome. The dancing will not stop until one o'clock.

The dance given by the Gamma Phi of the University last evening greatly helped to enliven a rather dull week.

Mrs. Russell G. Schuller entertained at bridge on Monday and Tuesday afternoons in honor of her mother, Mrs. William H. Dickson. The informality of both of the entertainments given by this charming hostess, made them most delightful. They were among the largest afternoon events of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Alma D. Katz are down from Boise to spend a few days, and are being entertained by old friends.

Let us hope that Governor Gooding will make no serious mistakes during the absence of Mr. Katz.

Mrs. and Miss Hanauer entertained on Thursday in honor of Mrs. Joseph Young.

The R. H. Officers entertain at dinner on Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Hempstead gave a dinner Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. V. Derrah entertained at dinner on Tuesday.

Mr. Roscoe Breeden leaves for the east today to be gone a month. He will visit the principal eastern cities.

An interesting event of Tuesday was the wedding of Miss Leah Nelbaur and James J. Bourke, Father Kelly officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Burke will return to make this city their home after spending some time in the east.

The George Hansons of Ogden have been in the city for a number of days, and are being entertained extensively.

Mr. Hanson has been showing a number of members of the lower house how to vote during his spare moments in the day time. He will return to the city during conference.

One of the newest Depew stories was told by the senator as an event of his last foreign trip. The senator was in a Paris shop when a fellow-countryman entered, and asked the price of a pin on the counter. He was told it was twenty francs. "That's too much," said the tourist; "it's a present for my sister. I'll give you five francs for it." "Zen it would be I zat gave ze present to your sister," said the Frenchman, with a deprecatory shrug, "and I do not know ze young mademoiselle."

There is some wickerware on display at the Greenwald Furniture Co., which is probably the handsomest ever seen in this city. It is imported direct from China, and is wonderful in texture and workmanship. Have you seen it?

IN THE SPRING.

The young man's fancy must be just about the same as it was when the words were first written in the olden times. And the young men and the young women in the surrounding States are evidently beginning to understand that Held, Art Stationer, is the person to write to when the wedding cards and announcements are to be engraved.

There are several beauties about Held, the Tiffany of the West, who doesn't charge the Tiffany profit. They are not in his face but in the perfect work of every description he sends to his customers. Whether the engraving is a calling card, an at-home, for a wedding, a dance, a dinner, or whatever it may be, the work is always the same. Perhaps that is why he doesn't get a vacation.

C. P. Held & Co. are still in the insurance business. The association of C. P. Held with John Held, art stationer, will make no difference in the writing of good fire insurance by the former.

IT MAKES A LOT OF DIFFERENCE

To a lady when she is calling or going to the theatre or a social affair if the carriage has a smart look about it, the horses are well groomed, and the driver is attired in a neat livery.

The Eastside Carriage Company is the only establishment of the kind in the city that sends out a carriage that way.
